Our City Comment & Discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

WORD comes from Los Angeles that a movement has been inaugurated by a small group of high school teachers to form a political machine.

In a bulletin issued by them they plan in their organization work to not only use school equipment but school time and resources to further the political interests of candidates selected by them for membership on the board of education. Instructions in the bulletin cover a wide field of activity and include the organization within the schools of squads for addressing and filling envelopes, typing and mimeographing. It also outlines a plan to influence civic and political organizations and the editorial policies of newspapers in the city school district.

THIS movement strikes at the very foundation principles of public school education and should be stamped out in quick order by the mass of teachers. School teaching is a most honored profession. It appeals to the very best of our citizenship and entails much sacrifice by a great many in order to have a share in that great constructive work. It is their selection to help construct the ladders by which our boys and girls may climb to future success. They recognize that the hope of the nation lies in the proper training of the youth of today.

It is to be regretted that a small coterie should try to besmirch their profession by endeavoring to organize a political machine and operate under the banner of teachers in general, in order to elect a few selected individuals to office. We feel that the teachers should take interest in civic matters and support as individuals, candidates best fitted for office, but as to forming a political machine within their profession we can see nothing but harm.

LAST evening's program given by the Hollywood Community Chorus, under the auspices of the Community Service of Glendale, was a huge success. There was a large enthusiastic audience which thoroughly appreciated the wonderful program presented. Glendale citizens have displayed their appreciation of Play Week by generous patronage, each program bringing larger audiences.

TOMORROW is the big day, as it is Boys' Day, and a big Loyalty parade starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and is followed by the boys being the guests of Bill Howe at the Glendale theatre. The Rotary club is sponsor for this day and promises big things.

SHIP ABANDONED, 237 PASSENGERS ARE MISSING

Wreck Found on African Shore Without Trace of Occupants

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 26.—A Reuters dispatch from Cape Town says that the Portuguese mail steamer Mossamedes, which grounded several days ago at Cape Frio, South-west Africa, has been found abandoned, with no traces of the 237 passengers she carried. Thus far, the dispatch adds, no boats have been picked up and there is no indication of the fate of the passengers and crew.
Owing to the fact that there are no landing places in the neighborhood of Cape Frio and that a heavy sea is running today, grave anxiety is felt for the safety of the boats. The Mossamedes' passengers included 23 women and 25 children. Two of them were British and the rest Portuguese.
The Mossamedes, a vessel of 115 tons, left Cape Town last Friday for the west coast. Just when she went ashore is unknown, but she left on an S. O. S. call for help. The British steamer Port Victor, which was 290 miles away, went to her assistance, arriving about midnight on Tuesday. The Port Victor found the Mossamedes abandoned.

COMMUNITY SING AT HIGH SCHOOL PROVES TO BE HUGE SUCCESS

Hollywood Guests Make Impression by Their Fine Co-operation and Music, Leading to Friendly Rivalry in Song

AUDITORIUM IS PACKED TO THE DOORS

Cadman Is Greeted With Reception As Old Acquaintance; Mrs. Carter Captures Hearts of Glendale and A. L. Baird Makes Apology

By GERTRUDE GIBBS
Mr. Tucker, director of Community Service, looked tired but very happy last night as he gathered the song books turned in by the departing audience after the community sing, which had been a most gratifying success, and which is the first of a series of inter-community gatherings. It was a wise thought to begin them with the Hollywood Community Chorus as guests. There has been so much visiting back and forth in the past between the Glendale chorus and that of Hollywood that when Mr. Kirchofer was leading both, sympathy and understanding already existed and friendly rivalry.

The Hollywood guests received a royal welcome which greatly pleased them, if the director of the program, Mrs. J. J. Carter, and the other representatives of that community who spoke could be believed. They looked as if they meant it.
By 8 o'clock the high school auditorium was packed, the rear wall lined with men who were standing, and all the doorways blocked with late comers who could find no seats, but who were determined not to miss anything.

Mrs. Carter, who is the president of the Hollywood Community chorus, captured the hearts of Glendale as she has those of her own city by her charming greetings and introductions of the artists of the evening. She confided as a secret which she said had not been communicated to any other community, the fact that the opera, "Shanewis," by Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer- pianist of the evening's program, is to be produced in its entirety in a beautiful setting in Hollywood Bowl, some time during the summer, for the first time on this coast since "that Margaret Messer Morris, who was also present, would be in the role of the princess. This was greeted with great applause by an assemblage which knows and tremendously admires Mr. Cadman.

A. L. Baird, apologizing for his appearance on a stage illuminated with stars of such magnitude in the musical world, introduced the Glendale speakers.
Mr. Kirchofer was at his most enthusiastic best, but the audience managed to anticipate and frustrate all the little tricks by which he endeavored to trip them, following his leadership with fidelity even when most eccentric and produced a volume of melody that so pleased Mr. Kirchofer, thwarted though he was, that he could scarcely contain himself enough to fill his customary role of playing Hollywood and Glendale against each other to a running accompaniment of jeering criticism and compliment.

Through Mr. Eastman, president of its chamber of commerce, who was introduced as the best substitute Hollywood has for a "singing mayor," and through Mrs. John F.

Chase, curator, for the three one-act plays which are to be presented Friday and Saturday nights at the club auditorium. The plays presented by the section last year were such a wonderful success and the casting displayed such finesse in portraying various characters that it is anticipated that there will be a large attendance both nights.

The plays to be presented by the section members include "The Dream Maker," a fantasy in one act, by Blanche Jenning Thompson; "The New Crusade," a satire on the servant problem, by Rachel Baker Gale, and "Finders-Keepers," a dramatic playlet dealing with the psychology of honesty, by George Kelly.

NORTH SIDE BOULEVARD IS SOUGHT

Exchange Club Advocates Brand to San Fernando Connection

BY W. L. TAYLOR
That Glendale should have a boulevard on the north side connecting Brand and the San Fernando road was the purpose of a resolution which was unanimously adopted at the noon luncheon meeting of the Exchange Club held yesterday at the Golden Spanish Cafe, 111 South Orange street.
For several weeks this much needed improvement has been discussed by members of the club, but definite action was not taken until yesterday when R. E. Johnson, chairman of the civic committee of the Exchange Club, introduced the following resolution, which was instantly adopted by approval of every member present:
"Resolved, that the Exchange Club of Glendale recommend to the city council that Burchett street be made an 80-ft. boulevard connecting with the San Fernando road on as straight a line as possible. This will enable tourists and strangers coming into Southern California via the San Fernando road to have a direct road into the heart of Glendale, thus seeing more of our city. We further recommend this proposed boulevard be beautified in every way possible, well lighted, and a good heavy and substantial pavement laid on same.
"We believe that this will be of great benefit to the city of Glendale as a whole, and ask the council to take such action as is necessary for this improvement at the earliest possible date."

DAN CAMPBELL'S HOME ARD-EVEN TO GO WAY OF ALL PIONEER SITES

Beautiful Ranch in the Foothills to Be Cut Up Into Lots for Scenic Lovers of the City and Surrounding Country

FORTY ACRES COMPRISED IN ENTIRE UNIT

Family to Retain About One Acre and Anticipate the Building Up of the Lots by Many Purchasers Among Their Friends

Progress in Glendale has won another victory, as a result of which the Campbell property in North Glendale which has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell and family for the past 23 years, will soon be cut up and offered to the scenic lot buyers of Glendale and the surrounding country.
In the past, when a person had reason to refer to "Ard-Even, the home of the Campbells," the expression naturally brought a vision of one of the most charming bits of property in all California. Ard-Even itself is beautiful beyond description, and the acres that surround it cannot be over-pictured. It is a dream location in the truest sense of the word.
The property to be opened soon comprises 40 acres. Of this Dan Campbell owns 20 acres of wonderful gradually sloping land. An additional 10 acres owned by Mr. Campbell is mountain land, which will be opened at the same time. The remaining 10 acres of the property to be opened is owned by Arthur Campbell, brother of Glendale's prominent banker.
Work on the maps for this property is going on at this time, and the actual opening date will be announced within a short time.
The improvement of this property will include the extension of Ard-Even, Ben Lomond and Idlewood Drives and Chester street through the land running north and south, and the continuation of Cumberland Drive, running east and west, parallel to Kenneth road, and passing along the south side of the property. All of the work done on these streets will be of the highest character.
All of the public utilities, such as water, gas, electricity, telephones and the like, will be installed in the tract.
Mr. and Mrs. Dan Campbell will retain their home place, Ard-Even, with about one acre of ground, which will be sufficient to retain the beautiful effects of the family home.
This is one of the last pieces of property left between the car line and Grandview avenue. On account of its many qualities it is extremely desirable for home building purposes. About 20 acres of the property is in peaches and oranges, which add to its value.
The announcement of the opening of the Campbell property will be good news to many of the residents of the valley who have been waiting for the "eventful day."

PYTHIANS ENJOY BANQUET IN CASTLE

Monthly Entertainment Is Scheduled for This Evening

The Castle Hall of the Glendale Lodge No. 331, K. of P., located at Brand boulevard and Park avenue, was comfortably filled at the regular meeting this week by the many members and visitors present to witness the exemplification of the Knight rank.
This degree was conferred upon several Esquires by Glendale lodge team, under the direction of Mr. Sam Brown, M. of W.
Prominent among the visitors present were Mr. Fred L. Jones, chairman of the district convention, who will be a candidate for the honors of Grand Prelate at the Grand Lodge convention in May. Grand Representative Peat was also there.
At the close of the meeting a luncheon was served in the banquet room with Attorney A. S. Davis acting as toastmaster. Short speeches were made by Jones, Peat, Shuck, McGuire and others.
Pythians of this city are looking forward to a big time tonight, when the regular monthly entertainment and dance will be held at the Castle hall, Brand and Park. Kelly's Shrine orchestra will dispel any clouds that have gathered and the light fantastic will predominate until 12 o'clock.

THE IDEA OF THE MEMBERS OF THE GLENDALE CREDIT ASSOCIATION IN TAKING OVER THIS PROPOSITION IS TO SECURE MORE EFFICIENT TRANSPORTATION FOR GLENDALE.
It has been decided to increase the number of directors from five to nine, and to make the company strictly a Glendale proposition. The members of the association believe this is the "last straw" in the work of securing cheaper transportation between Glendale and Los Angeles and they are leaving no stone unturned that would assist in putting the matter over.

REALTY BOARD ENDORSES ACTION OF DIRECTORS OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Approves of Determination to Advertise Glendale to the Extent of 60 Percent of the Total Receipts of the Organization

ASKS SUPPORT OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

President Thom Declares It Is the Duty of Realtors to Get Behind New Program of the Chamber of Commerce With Strong Support

The action of the board of directors of the Glendale chamber of commerce in deciding on an operating basis of 60 per cent of the chamber's funds for advertising and 40 per cent for running expenses, was endorsed by the Glendale Realty Board at its regular weekly meeting at the C. and S. cafeteria Wednesday noon, and the report of the board's committee which conferred with the chamber's directors on the subject was accepted.
An appeal was made by President Thom for the support of the Realty Board for the chamber of commerce.
"The chamber is looking to us for support," said President Thom, "and it is our duty to back up that institution. We can do a great deal toward keeping the chamber going, and to a man we should become members, if we are not at this time."
"The Glendale Realty Board is on an equal with the chamber of commerce," said Dr. Jessie Russell. "The chamber has already started on a publicity campaign and I believe this board should back it up in every way possible. We did not pledge that this board would go into the chamber 100 per cent strong, but merely said we would do all we can to get the board members to join that organization."
"Harmony between the Realty Board and the chamber of commerce and every other organization in this city is absolutely essential if this city is to continue to grow as it should," said Charles B. Guthrie. "The trouble with Glendale in the past has been that there has not been enough harmony and cooperation. In the first place the city is over-organized. It has too many different societies and clubs. All of them are working for the interests of Glendale, but they are doing so each in its own small way. If in some way the operations of these organizations could be pooled for more good could be accomplished."
"Let's get together and iron out these difficulties. The first step toward this end is to make the chamber of commerce the organization it should be."
Dr. Theobald, president of the Tujunga Realty board, was present and extended an invitation to the members of the Glendale Realty board to be present on May 21 at a program that is being put on by John Steven McGroarty at the Garden of the Moon in Tujunga. In this program the actors who are now appearing in the Mission Play will appear. Following the program there will be a dinner. Tickets for the performance and for the dinner will be given the members of the Glendale Realty board.
"While Glendale has been boasting of being the fastest growing city in America," said Dr. Theobald, "we of Tujunga would remind

Credit Ass'n. to Raise Money to Take Over Gulick Co. Option

An effort to raise the desired money to take over the option now held by the Pacific Motor Bus company on the franchise and equipment of the Verdugo Hills transportation company was decided on at a special meeting of the Glendale Credit Association, held Wednesday noon at the chamber of Commerce auditorium. The following committee was appointed to secure the necessary stock subscriptions: W. H. Hooper, chairman; H. M. Butts, S. S. Gilhuly, Alex Mitchell, Spencer Robinson, S. A. Davis and Ed M. Radke. The work of securing these subscriptions is going on at this time.
The idea of the members of the Glendale Credit Association in taking over this proposition is to secure more efficient transportation for Glendale.
It has been decided to increase the number of directors from five to nine, and to make the company strictly a Glendale proposition. GOLDEN SPANISH CAFE CROWDED AT OPENING

Glendalians Show Appreciation of Mrs. Pender's Novelty

The Golden Spanish Cafe, at 111 South Orange, had its formal opening last night, and it is estimated served around 300 people or more. The cafe was crowded all evening, and besides enjoying a fine dinner the diners were treated to a musical program given by the Shrine Orchestra.

The many people attending the opening last night were loud in praise of the unique place opened by Mrs. Pender, formerly a resident of Mexico City, who for years lived along the border of Mexico. She is well versed in the best methods of conducting a Spanish cafe, and is going to serve Spanish and Mexican dishes exclusively.

Last night's opening demonstrated there is a need for such a cafe in Glendale, and the large crowd thoroughly appreciated the dinner and entertainment.

Charles W. Reincke, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the manager of the cafe. He is an experienced caterer and a good fellow.

U-AND I CLUB IS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED

Members of the "U and I" Club were delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon with a program on antiques and heirlooms presented by Miss Ida Myers at the home of the hostess of the day, Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, of Florence Place.

Miss Myers illustrated her talk with treasures which have come down to her by inheritance from grandmothers and great grandmothers and which included an antique spinning wheel, old jewelry, her grandmother's party gowns, old bibles and other books, ranging in age from 1732 to 1893, samplers that were 100 years old, quaint baby clothes, linen sheets and ticks for straw beds which were homespun, three Paisley shawls, old lace and old embroidery, also old china of mulberry color and pattern, and other things affording sufficient variety to make a most entertaining afternoon, at the close of which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to the twelve or fifteen guests in attendance.

NORTH SIDE BLVD. IS SOUGHT

of the local Army and Navy store, and a booster for Glendale, is the father of this movement, and was given three loud cheers by the club yesterday in appreciation for his thoughtfulness in figuring out a proposition handled, it is contended, will be a big thing for Glendale, and divert much of the travel this way that now passes into Los Angeles without getting a true idea of what kind of a city we have. In speaking of the new boulevard Mr. Waring said:

"Very nearly all of the travel from the north follows the San Fernando road into Los Angeles, and it is impossible for strangers to form any idea of Glendale for the reason that the San Fernando road as yet has not reached a stage of development that fully represents a progressive city. It is true the growth along this great highway, and the improvements being made are wonderful, especially within the last few months, but we want as many people as possible to see the heart of Glendale, and if the plans outlined in the resolution are carried out I believe at least 50% of the people who come into Southern California from the north over the San Fernando road will pass through Glendale on Brand boulevard. The boulevard should be well paved and beautified and wide enough to correspond with the width of Brand," concluded Mr. Waring.

Other members of the club spoke favorably upon the resolution and it was the sense of the meeting that this action on this improvement be pressed as quickly as possible.

From a social and entertaining standpoint the luncheon meeting yesterday was one of the best in many weeks. Kelly's Shrine Orchestra was in charge of the entertainment feature and it was a humdinger. The orchestra alone always makes a hit, but yesterday was supplemented by Mrs. Leighton, a vocalist of rare ability, and Ripley Jackson, the live wire presiding officer, who also has a beautiful tenor voice. Both Mrs. Leighton and Mr. Jackson sang and were induced to respond to several queries. Considerable fun was injected into the meeting here and there by R. E. (Slim) Johnson of the Angel City, who being the heavyweight members of the club, each tipping the scales at more than 300, were the brain of no less an amount of good natured "poking."

Kelly, who is better known as the real estate man, and the first delegate to reach the national convention last winter in the east, also paid tribute to the Club's "Cat" more than once during the meeting. The Club voted to observe Ladies' Night the first Thursday night in May at the Sunset Canyon Country Club and it was announced that the Los Angeles Club members with their ladies would turn out strong that night as guests of the local club. Several Exchanges were present and assured the Club that they would be there strong, and urged that the Glendale Exchanges be prepared to entertain an army that night. A five-course dinner and dancing will close the evening's festivities.

Mrs. Pender, owner of the Spanish Cafe, was extended words of appreciation for the splendid luncheon served, and she was assured that the Club was a strong booster of anyone who had the nerve to start such a unique place as she has given Glendale.

Committee for the Chautauqua Named

Rev. Clifford Cole presided at a meeting of Chautauqua guarantors held at the office of Secretary Leaton, 113 East Broadway Tuesday night which was attended by about thirty members of the association, all enthusiastic.

A ticket committee was appointed, consisting of Secretary Leaton, H. L. Finlay and Mrs. Opal Green.

A publicity committee was also named, consisting of S. A. Trowbridge, Mr. Babcock, Rev. Clifford Cole and Miss Ida Waitt. Announcement was made that the same site used last year had been secured for this year and that the price of season tickets would remain the same, viz., adults, $2.50; students, $1.50; children, $1.00.

The other "spare" was taken from a machine belonging to C. M. Wheeler, of the Union League club, while his auto was standing at 518 East Harvard street. It disappeared between the hours of 6 and 10 p. m.

Every member is also a member of the state organization."

Dr. Russell made a plea for the support of the Glendale Realty board and the people of Glendale in favor of the Los Angeles city council at the primaries to be held next Tuesday.

Peter Hanson presented a list of the articles that will appear in the coming Glendale issue of The Arrowhead Magazine, and after considerable discussion, the list was endorsed, with the further changes desired by the publicity committee. Mayor Robinson reported that the Glendale-Verdugo park had been purchased by Haddock & Nibley company for $100,000. He further stated that the company, since purchasing the property, had refused $110,000 for the park, the figure set being $125,000.

Mr. Phelps of the State Realty Board was present and made a plea for all the members of the Glendale board to join the state association. Several members presented their intention to join the state association.

A communication from the National association informed the board that an emblem had been adopted by the national organization and that the local board was at liberty to use this if so desired.

Charles B. Guthrie spoke of the convention that was held last Saturday at Long Beach, stating that at that affair Glendale was very much in evidence.

President Thom announced that the next meeting of the board will be held at the Harriet Mae tea room at the corner of Harvard and Maryland, a special room having been provided for that purpose.

largest in respect of the number of boys ever assembled in the world. Who can or should be more interested in the boy than the public? If you can get the boy before he enters the school, the problem of all teachers and workers among boys will be easier in the future.

The searchlight of public opinion will be thrown upon the boy and every interest in the city will cooperate. The boy is of fundamental and vital importance; his welfare is paramount to everything else.

Let us lay aside our business Friday afternoon and give our thoughts and attention to the boys. Make some boy feel you are deeply interested in him and want to help him to attain successful manhood. Let's make the boy supreme on Friday.

COMMUNITY SING PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Mead, president of the Hollywood Women's club, who made the cleverest speech of the evening. Hollywood expressed its pleasure in coming to Glendale and invited its hostess city to return the visit.

Jesse Smith responded as president of the Glendale chamber, inviting Hollywood as our nearest and dearest neighbor to come often and to join with us in the effort to solve our common civic problems. The same thought and invitation was echoed by V. M. Hollister, who was introduced by Mr. Baird as "the power behind the throne," otherwise as the chairman of Glendale's Community Service, which had arranged for this program as part of its observance of "Play Week."

The last brief speech of the evening except the gracious farewell of Mrs. Carter, was made by Alexander Stewart, who could not keep away from an affair so close to his heart and ideals as this was. He gave greetings for the National Community Service and congratulated Glendale and Hollywood on such a demonstration of inter-community spirit, expressing the hope they would "carry on."

There was community singing until 9 o'clock, after which the special program of the evening was given, consisting of two delightful flute numbers by Mr. J. Plowe, conductor of the Hollywood Community orchestra, who gave a little talk about the origin and development of the flute. Sol Cohen, the "Kreisler" of Hollywood played two violin numbers. "The Old Refrain" and another.

When Mr. Cadman and Miss Morris were introduced they received an ovation of applause that was only exceeded by their enthusiastic recall. Miss Morris sang the "Song of the Hobb Woman" who Mr. Cadman explained, according to Indian legend, has power to bring spring and love to the frozen land. It is from the opera of "Shewhis" by Mr. Cadman, who served as piano accompanist for the young vocalist he has chosen to interpret his work. She also sang "The Sky Blue Water" to the great satisfaction of her hearers.

The final musical treat of the evening was the trio of songs by the women's chorus of the Hollywood Women's club, directed by Mr. Kirchofer. The members made a very pleasing ensemble, garbed exactly alike in simple white gowns and their singing was the finest possible tribute to Mr. Kirchofer's wonderful training. Exquisitely they interpreted "A Chanson" of spring, "Ashes of Roses," and "Little Pappoose." Miss Gladys Blackwell Pickard, who has a lovely, soprano voice being the soloist.

By ten o'clock one of the most delightful evenings Glendale has been privileged to enjoy was over and the big audience streamed out lingering to chat in the corridor and exchange congratulations on the pleasure they had enjoyed.

Health Talks

So many people complain to me about the painfulness of chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic adjustments should not be painful. I can and do give painless adjustments, and any one who knows the latest methods of adjustments can do the same. Chiropractic is foremost in the healing sciences of today. It has stood the test for years. It truly can be said, "Chiropractic adjustments remove the cause of disease." But I give massage with every adjustment because it assists nature to restore the body to its normal condition. Massage is one of the oldest of the healing arts. It has been used in some form for centuries. The French people used it years ago, but it was in a crude way. It was Peter Ling of Sweden who systematized this method and later J. Weir Mitchell was influential in bringing it to this country where he used it in his practice with splendid results; and from time to time others have studied and practiced massage with equally great results. I am a graduate and an authorized teacher of the Gosta Yhnell System of Massage. Prof. Yhnell practiced massage for 45 years in Europe and America and his system of massage is highly recommended in institutions of the east.

Massage profoundly influences the entire nervous system and accelerates the flow of blood through the system. Increases oxidation and absorption, and improves the circulation of blood and lymph. Waste and poisonous substances are taken up and by this circulation eliminated from the system more quickly.

Massage assists in digestion and assimilation. It promotes kidney activity. It improves the nutrition of the muscles, thereby promoting their development. Therefore, I use Chiropractic plus Massage in my practice. If you have never tried this system of treatment or not getting the results you should have, come and see my method. It is fair with yourself and have the best.

GOOD YEAR

THE "special discount" is tempting, but not when you understand who pays for it. The tire dealer doesn't pay for it. The manufacturer cannot afford to. Chances are it comes out of the quality of the tire, so, after all, you pay for it. None of the quality of Goodyear Tires ever is sacrificed to "special discounts" or anything else.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend Goodyear Tires and back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

"Pacific Long Distance"

(Brooks E. Miller Speaking from Glendale 677-W)

"Please Get Hudson D. Wilcox for me, 645311—Long Beach"

(Central)—"All right, Mr. Miller." (Bell)—"Ting-a-ling-a-ling." (Miller)—"Hello, Wilcox?" (Wilcox)—"Yes; who's this?" (Miller)—"Brooks E. Miller, of Glendale, the fastest growing city of the United States." (Wilcox)—"That's bull. Glendale can't compare with Long Beach." (Miller)—"Rats—All you've got down there is that big WART, Signal Hill." (Wilcox)—"Seems to me your BEMCO OIL SYNDICATE likes that big WART, nevertheless." (Miller)—"Sure! It's the best thing down there, next to A. P. HOFFMAN, Director of the Security Trust & Savings Bank, one of our Trustees." (Wilcox)—"Is HE one of your Trustees?" (Miller)—"Sure; do you know him?" (Wilcox)—"I'll say so. I drilled two wells in which he is a heavy shareholder, and, believe me, he is one of the finest men in Long Beach—has been a success all of his life, and a good man to be connected with." (Miller)—"My cousin, who lives on the BEMCO lease, and looks after our property there, just telephoned me that you wanted a BEMCO Unit." (Wilcox)—"With Mr. Hoffman in there, I sure do." (Miller)—"I wouldn't sell YOU one unit, Mr. Wilcox." (Wilcox)—"Why?" (Miller)—"Because, as a drilling superintendent, I know you know Signal Hill wells, and our territory in particular. And our contractor has drilled 1740 feet in 11 drilling days." (Wilcox)—"That's going some. What's the capitalization of BEMCO?" (Miller)—"ONLY 1250 units at $100.00 each, giving 50 per cent of the oil." (Wilcox)—"Who gets the other 50 per cent?" (Miller)—"The land-owners get 35 per cent and the Trustees 15 per cent." (Wilcox)—"What salaries do the Trustees receive?" (Miller)—"They serve without any pay whatsoever—we MUST get oil or they lose." (Wilcox)—"That's fair enough. What's the size of the BEMCO lease?" (Miller)—"One and one-quarter (1 1/4) acres." (Wilcox)—"How many wells will you drill on it?" (Miller)—"I am raising just enough money to drill one well to a depth of 4500 feet on a TURNKEY contract, expecting to be in the HIGH-GRAVITY oil sand for a depth of 300 feet at least. When the unit-holders have received all of their money back in dividends, I am in favor of setting aside 50 per cent of their production and drill a second well." (Wilcox)—"That's great. Who pays the dividends and how often are they paid?" (Miller)—"When the oil is sold to the pipeline company, they pay to one of the leading banks of Long Beach, who divides the money pro-rata and mails it out to the unit-holders monthly." (Wilcox)—"That's a fine way to handle it." (Miller)—"But your life it is. And most of that dividend money is coming right back to GLENDALE." (Wilcox)—"Don't make me laugh. Don't forget Long Beach's share." (Miller)—"Now I got you! Are you going to BUY ONE unit or FIVE?" (Wilcox)—"Put me down for FIVE, and I'll meet you on the BEMCO lease tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and give you my check." (Miller)—"I'll be Johnny-on-the-spot. Thanks." (Wilcox)—"Go long, and good luck!" (Miller)—"Farewell, until tomorrow at 2 o'clock."

COUNTY HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE IS APPROVED

County Supervisor Speaks for the Relief Bonds

"We are proud of the people of Los Angeles county," said County Supervisor Wright this morning, speaking for the members of the board. "We are proud because we have yet to hear of any opposition to the humane and necessary county bond issue, which will be submitted to the voters on May 1. This issue, designed to finance additions at the county hospital, farm and sanatorium, is of great importance to the county."

The board of supervisors is giving every minute of time possible to furthering the cause of the bonds, for the supervisors realize perhaps better than anyone else the urgent necessity for new buildings.

The hope was expressed that friends of the bond issue would use their automobiles freely on election day, May 1, to aid the passage of the bonds. Many voters, who would not otherwise get to the polls, may be taken by this means. "We are sorry, however, to say that there does seem to be a little lack of interest," continued Mr. Wright. "When people realize that residents of this county are actually suffering because there is no room for them at the county institutions, we feel that the lack of interest will disappear. Then, we feel certain, they will do their share by going to the polls and voting 'yes.'"

ORGANIZING TEAM WILL BE HERE ONE YEAR

EAGLE ROCK, April 26.—The professional organizers, Stevenson and Schouboe, working with the local chamber of commerce, will hold the guiding reins here for one year, until the organization is thoroughly established, and in well-ordered, smooth-running order. There will be many problems to be overcome even after the enlarged chamber is definitely at work, and these men who have organized over one hundred successful chambers of commerce, in cities both large and small, will be able to assist the men in charge of the affairs to cope with the difficulties, and guide them into the channels of success in the things which they wish to undertake.

CHARLES CHAPLIN FILM TO 'CLOSE THIS EVENING

Sleeping in church and other tricks employed by some church-goers to dodge the collection would soon become a lost art if all persons adopted Charles Chaplin's method in "The Pilgrim," the first National feature that filled the T. D. & L. theater this week, making the rafters ring with laughter. The film ends tonight.

Chaplin as "The Pilgrim," is forced into the pulpit. He happens to be an ex-convict, but is wearing a parson's clothing. The collection interests him particularly. When the ushers pass the boxes he follows their every movement, and there isn't a chance in the world for any one to walk out or snooze through the collection while his eagle eye is on the job.

As a "spotter," Charles goes to the head of the class.

BY service we mean having your size in Good-year Tires on hand when you need tires, advising you what type of tire to buy, mounting your tires for you, showing you how to care for them, and following them up with expert repair care so that you will get out of them every mile of the thousands of miles built into them.

JERRY JETER HAS MANY JOLTS IN HIS TALK TO AUDIENCE

JERRY JETER JOLTS "A good mother-in-law is the next thing to an angel, but a bad mother-in-law! Good night." "Mrs. Lot was not satisfied, I think, until her husband moved into Sodom and got her daughters married off to a lot of spider-leg dudes." "You say, 'I get mad in an instant and then I am all over with it! Yes, so is a shot gun.'" "A dude is the sorriest species of the human race and when one of them begins to 'pester' around your daughter, just tie a rock around his neck and drop it in a deep hole in the creek. The law can do nothing with you for dropping nothing into the creek."

"Loud religious professions and flashes of temper that strike like lightning do not go together."

The results this week are very pleasing to all who are attending the Jeter meetings on East Broadway. The number of people who are responding to the invitations extended by the evangelists are piling up very rapidly. Mr. Jeter said the other day that he no longer carried an adding machine and that he did not know how many people had "hit the trail."

His sermon last night was largely on "Remember Lot's Wife." He thinks that Mrs. Lot was largely the cause of her daughters getting married to the men in Sodom, who, as the Bible says, were "wicked and sinners before the Lord exceedingly."

She and Lot lost their influence over their children for they left their children behind. When Lot knocked at the door of his son-in-law, they gave the old man "the horse laugh." They thought he was flighty to be talking to them about escaping before the fire consumed. "The evangelist will speak on "Somebody Is Coming; Who Is and When Is He Coming?" Mrs. Jeter will speak Sunday afternoon on the story of her life. She is having really wonderful 2:30 o'clock services, so the people say who are attending. The campaign will positively close Sunday night when the evangelist speaks on "What is the Sin for Which There is No Forgiveness?"

PEACE WAITS ON ITS PRINCE, SAYS REV. C. S. PROUT

That the nations of Europe and of the world generally have lost the power of co-operation, as shown by the utter failure of conference after conference, called to restore normalcy after the war, and that the world will never know another day of general peace until the coming of the Prince of Peace, was affirmed by Rev. C. S. Prout at the Adventist Tabernacle in Eagle Rock, Wednesday evening. Rev. Prout's theme was that of the outcome of present conditions in Europe, as foretold by scripture prophecy.

The world situation today, the speaker said, is just what the Savior foretold that it would be, in his prophetic discourse to his disciples on the Mount of Olives, as recorded in Luke 21. The time was to come when there would be "upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity," and "men's hearts failing them for fear." V. 25, 26. The speaker quoted statements from current issues of leading magazines, showing the desperate state of affairs in Europe and the prospect of further war, the outcome of which would be the collapse of European civilization. The world is having heart failure today as it contemplates the possibilities and probabilities of the immediate future.

What is going to happen to the world in our day, the speaker said, was foretold by the prophet Daniel, who lived six hundred years before Christ. There is given in the second chapter of Daniel's prophecy an outline of world history from the time of the Babylonian empire down to the present day. This was shown in a dream given to the king of Babylon, which Daniel interpreted. The king beheld in his dream a great image like a man, the head of which represented his own kingdom, after which other great monarchies would arise, represented by other parts of the image, the last of these being imperial Rome, represented by the iron legs. The feet of the image being of iron, mixed with clay, signified that in the latter days the kingdom would be divided, and would be "partly strong and partly broken." V. 41, 42. Finally the dream showed the image smitten on its feet by a stone which was "cut out of the mountain without hands," the result being that the image was broken in pieces and was swept away like chaff before the wind, while the stone "became a great mountain and filled the whole earth."

The Roman empire was broken up into ten divisions, the speaker said, and we are living today under this division, which the prophet declared would continue to the end. "In the days of these kings," said Daniel, "shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed." This is represented by the stone which smites the image, and then becomes a mountain filling the whole earth. This is what is going to happen to the turbulent nations of Europe, and to all the nations. The coming of Christ will sweep them away like chaff. The kingdom of Christ will not be incorporated with or merged into any of them.

FINE PROGRAM PLANNED BY OXY BOWLING

EAGLE ROCK, April 26.—One of the finest concerts yet to be presented here by an excellent glee club has been arranged to take place at the Women's Club of Eagle Rock, April 27, to raise money for the fund which the Women's Twentieth Century Club is raising to put some worthy and ambitious Eagle Rock girl through a year's course of study at Occidental College.

The Junior and Senior High School girls will be guests of honor at this entertainment, and it is highly probable that the scholarship may go to one of them, although any young lady in or out of college is eligible.

The Occidental Glee Club itself is a highly talented organization of young women who have met with popular favor at every appearance they have made in the locality, presenting diversified programs of harmony and entertainment to turn out for the evening; not alone because of the worthy Mesdames Lee-Young, Fisk, Shearin, Gardiner, Elmer Richardson, Lang, Marshall, Claussenius, Roach and Cruzan, chairman, are in charge of the entertainments whereby the scholarship fund will be realized.

Tickets are on sale at the office of H. L. Doyal on Colorado, or at the clubhouse on Friday evening, at 50 cents.

Penalties of Conceit

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

It is a matter of common knowledge that conceited people are invariably esteemed lightly by those with whom they come into contact. In fact, because of the unfavorable sentiments they provoke by their boastful words or ways, most persons prefer their absence to their company.

This itself constitutes a pretty heavy penalty of conceit.

It means, for one thing, that the conceited are sure to know many lonely hours. The feeling of friendlessness so galling to all human beings is certain to be theirs in more than ordinary measure.

Also it means that, if only because of the general attitude toward them, they are seriously handicapped in their business or professional activities.

The successful doing of professional work and the successful conduct of business activities are largely determined by smoothness in personal relationships. As a matter of course, people like to do business with, and extend a helping hand to, those congenial to them.

Equally, as a matter of course, as far as it is possible for them to do so, they avoid business contacts with the uncongenial. Certainly they do not go out of their way to aid them in business. Hence in their business efforts the conceited are hampered as others are not.

They are further hampered by the unfortunate fact that their conceit blinds them to other personal shortcomings that have an adverse effect on the winning of business success.

Only the other day, when asked to give the secret of his rise from obscurity to a place of power in the business world, a well-known merchant answered, "What success I have had is, I think, chiefly due to the fact that I have always tried never to make the same mistake twice." No conceited man could truthfully answer in this wise.

For the conceited, simply because they are conceited, are unwilling to acknowledge even to themselves the possibility of their making mistakes. So when they do make mistakes they are likely to keep on making them, even despite the advice and remonstrances of persons wiser than they.

Inevitably this brings difficulties upon them. It may even cost them loss of employment. At best it holds them back, while fellow-workers, more amenable to reason, gain promotion over their heads.

Which, naturally, is distressing to the conceited. They begin, if not to be embittered, at least to pity themselves as victims of injustice. And with the coming of either bitterness or self-pity the likelihood of their making a complete failure of their lives increases appreciably.

Nor does this enumeration exhaust the list of the penalties of conceit. Surely, though, it is enough to give persuasive exemplification to the familiar Biblical saying: "Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him." Conceit, in truth, may be described as the quintessence of folly. And until the conceited awake to an appreciation of what their conceit signifies and the menace it holds, there can indeed be no hope for them.

'DARK HORSES' COME TO FRONT IN CONTEST

Several "dark horses" surprised contestants in the Consumers' Contest this week by coming strongly to the front. The most notable advance was that of Jim Joe Rhodes from 1000 votes to 172,300. Rhodes claims that he has another surprise for the contestants next week and that he will make a strong bid for first place in the next two or three weeks.

Ruth Steln came to the front this week with an advance of 134,000. Her total vote is 606,900. According to present indications most of the contestants will flood the Contest Editor with thousands of labels at the last minute, although the past three weeks has seen an unprecedented interest in the contest. Housewives everywhere are making strenuous efforts to place their favorite contestant in first place.

Contestants are cautioned against leaving labels in the Glendale Press office without first having WRAPPED THEM SECURELY AND PUTTING THEIR NAMES ON THE BUNDLE. Two bundles are now in the office of the Contest Editor that have not been identified. Credit will be given to the contestants that can identify them.

CHARITY CIRCUS FOR HOSPITAL SET FOR MAY

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—The days of a generation or two ago, when a circus was a "one-ring" affair, but every act was a star one, will be revived at the "Charity Circus" which will be staged at Praeger park, May 4 to 13, inclusive, for the benefit of the Children's hospital.

Headed by "Poodles" Hannaford, the foremost trick riding clown in the world, who comes from one of the oldest families of circus performers in the circus annals, a notable aggregation of old-time "big top" performers will appear. Tote Duckrow, Jim Gibson and Cal Cohen, three of the old-time circus clowns, have been secured and will re-enact for the benefit of a modern day audience the feats that made another generation laugh many years ago.

S. H. Barrett, Jr., who is managing the show, comes from an old-time circus family. He is the son of S. H. Barrett, one of the pioneer circus proprietors.

While the circus itself will be of the "old-fashioned" variety, there will be plenty of other features to satisfy the modern taste. The "Spanish Village," presented by a bevy of young society girls and a number of the beautiful film actresses of Hollywood, will be a replica of Los Angeles when it was under Spanish rule. "King Tut's" harem will also feature a large number of beautiful young ladies.

Senorita Julia Ruiz, featured artiste of the Teatro Nacional, Madrid, is the latest addition to the "Spanish Village" stars. The senorita will take a prominent part in the presentation and display the versatility which charmed thousands in her native country. She is a typical Spanish beauty and gained fame through her form, grace and ability.

Eddie Brown, old-time circus performer, has been appointed ringmaster and equestrian director. Brown, formerly with the Sells-Floto circus, will wear the high boots, the white trousers and the red coat and will crack the long whip in the "sawdust ring."

First Principle of Economy

PRICE is all you seek in buying plumbing fixtures, don't complain if price proves to be all that you get.

The first principal of economy is buying the best you can afford. Of all the purchases for the home, GOOD PLUMBING is by far the most important and most economical, because it protects life and health.

DON'T BUY SECONDS OR DAMAGED GOODS. Good plumbing fixtures bear their manufacturers' names plainly to be seen.

The false economy of buying inferior plumbing fixtures is most likely to result in repair bills that might have been avoided. No one who buys inferior goods has a right to complain if they fail to give good service or permanent satisfaction.

BE SURE OF YOUR PLUMBER. Select a member of the Sanitary Development League. It is composed of over 200 high-class, successful plumbing concerns in Southern California, who are pledged to maintain the highest business standards. Their prices, goods and workmanship ARE RIGHT.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK

ACKERLY AND WURTZ OF BURBANK POLICE FORCE SUSPENDED BY CITY COUNCIL FOR 15 DAYS

John M. Long Appointed City Marshal During Absence of George Cole; Trustees Vote to Increase Park Fund With License Fees

Deputy Marshals Fred Ackerly and A. P. Wurtz were suspended from the Burbank police force for conducting to action taken by the city council Tuesday evening.

John M. Long was appointed to act as marshal head of the police force, for the next two weeks during the vacation given Chief George Cole.

The attention given the police department was only one of the interesting features in the steps taken by the council for the improvement of the town.

Attorney Walter Fisher appeared before the trustees with a verbal offer from his client, Henry G. Davis, to purchase decomposed granite from the city gravel pit at 16 1/2 cents per cubic yard.

After a discussion of the matter it was decided that it would be laid over until next meeting.

A letter from Dr. VanMeter concerning the need of testing, analyzing and establishing and equipping a laboratory and employing some one to have charge of it was discussed. The board decided that

The matter should be thoroughly investigated before any action was taken.

P. S. McNutt wrote asking for the improvement of Harvard avenue. Ordinance 200 establishing the grade of Providencia and Crescent avenues was read for the second time and adopted by the board.

Deeds were accepted by the city from Mr. and Mrs. C. S. May and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Forbes for the land allowed for the extension of Lake street.

Ordinance 268 calling for the improvement of Grismer avenue was read and City Clerk Webster was instructed to call for bids.

The board accepted bids for the park for streets and alleys in the land for streets and alleys in the park.

Bids for the improvement of Cedar avenue as duly called for by resolution 254 ordering improvement were opened. They were from E. L. Fleming of Glendale, George A. Simpson of Los Angeles, Cornwell and Henderson of Glendale and W. J. Curran of Glendale.

Bids for the improvement of Tu-junga, Angelino and Providencia avenues were opened. George S. Simpson of Los Angeles, W. J. Curran, Cornwell and Henderson and E. L. Fleming offered bids for the work. They were referred to the city engineer F. C. Miller for checking.

There were no protests received by City Clerk Webster or verbal protests entered at the council meeting for the laying of the water main on Olive and Pass avenues so the board ordered improvement proceedings to be carried on and the city clerk was instructed to call for bids.

Rev. Thomas Stevenson will celebrate his third anniversary Sunday. He will preach a special sermon to mark the occasion.

All his friends are urged to be present Sunday morning to make it a time of rejoicing for the pastor.

The Christian Endeavor society at night will be led by Elder C. E. Griswold and the Clark Intermediates by Philip Smith.

The subject for this will be "What My Denomination Has Meant to the World." I Peter 2:9-12. The subject of the evening sermon will be "The Building Material of Life."

A meeting of the Radio Club was held at the Palais Majestic hall, 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

A good crowd heard the program from the Times which was given by Monrovia artists.

A new Deforest Reflex with Western Electric loud speaker was furnished by the Burbank Music company.

Admission to Tuesday club meetings is free to all.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK...

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary Shawnee, Oklahoma, Board of Commerce

THAT your live merchants are city-builders. Their stores and their stocks are up-to-date.

THAT some business men are destroyers; they really have no reason for it—they just lack pep.

THAT business rise and fall just like some men.

THAT men are good or bad, happy or miserable, according to the use they make of their brains and the opportunities that present themselves.

THAT a great many business men are grasping these opportunities.

THAT the ones who are alive and have a growing business, ADVERTISE.

THAT advertising brings more business, it brings better business and it brings life and success to a business.

THAT if you ever want to know who the live, city-boasting, patriotic business men of your city are, you will find their names in the advertising columns. They believe that if anything is worth having it is worth going after.

THAT WORTH-WHILE BUSINESS IS OBTAINED BY ADVERTISING.

TALKS OF POLICE MATTERS TO THE KIWANIS CLUB

A retired sergeant of police of New York City, William Meyer, now residing in Burbank, addressed the Kiwanians at their luncheon Wednesday noon.

He gave many interesting stories of his experiences. One of the chief points in his address was that a policeman's record in New York City was not based upon the number of arrests but upon the absence of crime in his district.

B. C. Woods of the Community Investment company scored the local police because of the reputation they have acquired among speeders.

Reports were made by the captains of the white and blue teams in the Kiwanis Kalling Contest. Whites had scored 1755 points and the blues had made 1555 points.

GOOD FELLOWS ARE HOSTS

The dinner dance of the Good Fellows was well attended, seventy-eight people making reservations. The music was furnished by the Wilson orchestra.

Miss Jackie Shannon entertained with some specialty numbers of songs and dances and there was an entertainer from the Palais Royal of San Francisco, who gave a few numbers.

Admission to Tuesday club meetings is free to all.

Richard Mead, Secretary.

BURBANK RADIO FANS LISTEN IN

The Palais Majestic orchestra went down Monday to have a try-out concert at the Times Broadcasting station. They were asked to play after the examination and gave a four number program.

All Burbank desirous of hearing home talent should put on their ear muffs that night and listen.

The New York Giants have two big gambles in Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 outfielder, and Jack Bentley, $65,000 southpaw pitcher.

If they deliver, the Giants ought to be in by the middle of August.

When it comes to looking on the bright side of things one-sided views are apt to be satisfactory.

BANKERS FOR IT, CHILDREN PLAN FOR MAY DAY PAGEANT

What Does the W. C. T. U. Have to Say to Recent Burbank Caller? The Coming of May Promises to Be Big Success

Attention, W. C. T. U.! "Vote for light wines and beer, and do away with this bootlegging and dope peddling." This is the plea that L. F. Walker made as he went from door to door in the business district asking for a dollar and the signature of the merchants to sign a petition asking for light wines and beers, Wednesday.

He claims that all the bankers are for him and are supporting him.

Signers of the petition from Burbank were Charles Fischer, Otto Sims, Walter Story and Edgar Ramp. However, Mr. Walker had not completed his business calls when he had secured these names.

He said he was representing the "Sanity League of America," a national organization with headquarters in San Francisco.

LANKERSHIM ASKS AID OF BURBANK FIREMEN

Lankershim called the Burbank fire department Tuesday evening when the Hartsook Dairy caught fire and the Lankershim force could not get the flames under control.

When the Burbank men arrived it was found that there was no water plug near enough to attach their hose.

They had to put out the fire by tearing apart the buildings and tearing away the fire from the entire dairy, the feed section and the roof of the milking shed.

The flames were high and the fire could be seen for many miles. In spite of the big headway made there were no cattle lost in the fire, and it was all covered by insurance, amounting to about $4000.

Various causes of the fire were suggested, some thinking it was caused by a fire bug, because the same evening Fox's chicken ranch, a half mile north of the Hartsook ranch, burned, and the entire ranch was burned. More than 1000 chickens were killed.

MILLION IN NEW BALL PLAYERS

By Henry L. Farrell (United Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, April 26.—Almost a million dollars' worth of young ball players will be tried out this season in the major leagues.

Most of them will make the grade, not so much because they are great ball players, but for the reason that the two big leagues are in desperate need of young blood.

Other than baseball which fell upon young men during the war times set the process of developing young players back about three years and it is just now that the minor leagues are beginning to turn out stars in large numbers for the faster company.

Every club in the two big leagues has one or more young players holding down important jobs, and in several cases pennant chances depend in a large part on how they deliver.

This is particularly true with the St. Louis Browns, who have Robertson, a youngster, on third base, and Durr, another one, on first base.

The fate of the St. Louis Cards also rests in a large part on how fast Holm, a college boy, comes in under studying Doc Lavan and how well Bottomly get along at first base.

The Chicago White Sox also stake their chances on Willie Kamm, the California third baseman, and Cleveland has two important places occupied by youngsters—Lutz at third and Summa in the outfield.

The New York Giants have two big gambles in Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 outfielder, and Jack Bentley, $65,000 southpaw pitcher.

If they deliver, the Giants ought to be in by the middle of August.

When it comes to looking on the bright side of things one-sided views are apt to be satisfactory.

OFFICIAL RULES OF ALL GLENDALE PLAYGROUND BALL

New Regulations Governing the Game Adopted for Use in Community Service Athletic Leagues in Glendale High and Grammar Schools

The following are the new rules and regulations governing all Glendale playground ball, compiled and edited for the Community Service by Normal C. Hayhurst, head of the physical department of the high school, and Albert T. Blanford, supervisor of physical education of the Glendale grammar schools, and adopted for use in all school leagues here:

RULE 1. Each side of the diamond shall be 50 feet long (45 feet intermediates, 40 feet grammar schools) with bases 15 inches square, made of canvas or other suitable material, filled with sand, except "home" base, which is a board or rubber, one foot square, set diagonally with the corners filled in on the portion facing the pitcher, where it will measure 17 inches across.

The distance from the center of home to the back edge of the pitcher's box is 30 feet, (27 feet grammar schools). The pitcher's box shall be on a line running from home to second.

The batter's toes, one on either side of "home," are 4 feet wide by 6 feet long. They shall extend three feet in front of and three feet behind a line through the center of home, the inner side being 6 inches from the base.

RULE 2. Foul lines shall be drawn from the outside edge of home plate in a straight line to the outer edge of first and third bases, extending to a sufficient distance into the field to determine fair and foul hits.

RULE 3. The ball shall be official 12-inch playground ball. The ball shall be the official indoor baseball bat. No player shall be allowed to wear spikes or hard shoes of any kind, tennis shoes with rubber soles being advisable.

RULE 4. Nine players shall compose each team. (In grammar schools and intermediate girls, play ten on a side). The captain may place his players as he chooses, with the exception of the pitcher who must deliver the ball from the pitcher's plate.

RULE 5. The pitcher shall stand with both feet touching the pitcher's plate and must be facing the batter before delivering the ball to the batter. He shall not advance more than one step in delivering the ball nor raise either foot until in the act of delivering the ball to the batter.

After delivering the ball he may advance toward the batter. This ball must be delivered legally, that is, it must be delivered below the hip and parallel to the body.

The pitcher may use curves of his own free will, so long as they are delivered legally.

RULE 6. A game shall consist of runs in nine innings (seven in grammar schools) unless the team which bats first scores less runs in nine innings than the other has scored in eight innings, in which case the game shall end, or if the side last at bat in the last inning makes the winning score before the last man is out, the game shall then end.

A tie game shall be continued until one side scores more runs than the other in an equal number of innings.

RULE 7. The choice of innings shall, in league games, be given to the home team; in all other games to be decided by the tossing of a coin.

RULE 8. The base runner shall not have a substitute for him, except by consent of the captains of the opposing teams.

RULE 9. A balk is: (a) Any motion on the part of the pitcher to deliver the ball to the batter without so doing or to throw to first base when occupied by a runner without completing the throw.

(b) He must step directly toward the base when throwing to catch a runner.

(c) Holding the ball by him so long as to delay the game unnecessarily.

(d) Any delivery of the ball to the batter when either foot is back of and not in contact with the pitcher's plate.

(e) Standing in position and making motion to deliver the ball without having it in his possession.

(f) Making motion to pitch without being in legal pitching position. (Rule 5).

All balks are called and decided by the umpire.

Base-runners are entitled to advance one base on a balk.

RULE 10. A dead ball is a ball delivered by the pitcher to the batter which touches any part of the batter's clothing or person while in his position, providing the batter does not intentionally allow the ball to strike him, the ball not being struck at.

A dead ball shall be called a ball. Note: If the batter intentionally gets in the way of a legally pitched ball, he shall be called out, and in case there is a runner on the bases he shall not be allowed to advance on that ball.

RULE 11. Block balls. A block ball is a batted or thrown ball that is stopped or handled by any person not engaged in the game. Bases may be run until the ball is returned to the pitcher in his position. If the ball is held, kicked or handled in such a way as to make the fielding difficult, the umpire shall call time and the baserunners shall be held at the last touched base until the ball has been returned to the pitcher.

RULE 12. A fair hit is a batted ball which strikes any place inside or on the base or foul line, the point where it first hits deciding.

Note: A ball which strikes inside the base lines between home plate and third and home plate and first and then rolls out shall be decided a foul ball.

RULE 13. A foul hit is a batted ball which strikes any place outside the base or foul line, between first and home, and third and home.

If a ball strikes outside and rolls in between first and home and third and home, it shall be called a foul.

Note: If the batter has not advanced two strikes a foul is counted a strike.

Note: A base runner can advance on a caught foul, providing he was on the base he was entitled to when the ball was caught, if he can make it.

him, that is, if he touches the runner and then drops the ball, the runner shall be called safe.

(h) First base is the only one which the runner is allowed to overrun after he has touched it. If after overrunning first, he attempts to run to second before returning to first, he shall forfeit such exemption from liability to be put out.

(i) If, in case a fair or foul hit fly be caught by a fielder and the ball be returned to the base the runner occupied, before said runner can return to that base.

(j) There shall be no double play on a caught foul tip unless the catcher throws the runner out stealing the base ahead.

(k) If the runner be touched with the ball in the hands of any fielder before he is able to return to that base.

(l) If, in running between bases or not occupying a base he is entitled to, he be hit by a fair batted ball before such ball is touched by fielder.

(m) If he fails to touch each base in order, first, second, third and home, he may be called out, but he shall not be called out if a fielder touching that base which the runner has failed to touch.

(n) If he intentionally kicks or interferes with the ball he has just batted. If a ball has just batted rebounds and hits him, he shall not be called out on that account. (p) If a coacher at third touches or holds a base runner at third or a base runner who is rounding third for home plate, the umpire shall declare such base runner out.

(q) If, with one or more out and a base runner on third, the batsman attempts a play by being made at home plate.

RULE 22. In case a runner is being run down between bases and the following runner occupies the same base the first runner has left, the second man cannot be put out while holding said base. If the first runner, however, returns safely to the base he left, and both runners are then occupying the same base, the second runner is the man out, if touched with the ball.

RULE 23. A base runner can advance (may not be put out):

(d) On an overthrow of first, third or home may advance only one base. On an overthrow of second base, as many bases may be advanced as the runner may be able to make.

RULE 24. The coacher or coachers must occupy position in the coacher's boxes and shall be subject to the following restrictions:

(a) The coachers shall be allowed to coach base runners only.

(b) If at any time a coacher by touching or holding the runner physically assists him in returning to or leaving the base, this base runner is automatically out.

(c) If a coacher intentionally interferes with the fielder in the act of fielding a ball, the batter shall be called out.

Note: A run shall not be scored if the third man is forced out, or is put out before reaching first base.

(d) If, while a base is occupied the coacher stationed near that base shall run in the direction of home plate, or on near the base line while the fielder is making or trying to make a play on the batted ball, not caught on the fly, or a thrown ball, or a fly ball, and thereby draws a throw to home base, the base runner is entitled to third base shall be declared out by the umpire for coacher's interference with and prevention of a legitimate play.

RULE 25. A run shall be scored each time a base runner, after having successfully touched each base in order, touches home plate according to all preceding rules.

The runner is safe if he touches the bag or the spot where the bag should be, should the bag be detached.

RULE 26. Additional rules may be made by the umpire in the same spirit as the above rules. All points not covered shall be decided according to the rules of hardball.

Truths in Epigram

God is with the patient.—Koran. I suppose every day of earth, with its loves and hates, its triumphs and defeats, its pangs and its blisses, has more of humanity in it than all of the books that were ever written, put together.—Holmes. The excellence of religion is proved by the fact that many pretend to possess it.—Chrysostom.

GERMANY'S CONFUSED MIND

For the present, the German nation, a people of philosophers, seems to have lost the power of clear thought. Germans contemplate the situation in which they find themselves and are not able to perceive the series of facts that brought about the situation. That they are culpable in relation to anything that has occurred, does not enter their minds. That they should be penitent, strikes them as absurd, since they have not erred. It is the awful France that is responsible; France and that wicked England and the no less iniquitous America that hold aloof while Germany is being crushed. Germany is making a plea of poverty, yet it has been going ahead with great industrial development. Building and manufacturing have engaged its energies as never before. Its money has become worthless, and yet nobody starves. Residents of the cities are well dressed, and robust. Farmers are prosperous. The restaurants are crowded. In such places as Berlin there are thousands of foreigners, and they are there because they cannot find another place of living as cheap. The Germans express surprise at the shrinkage of the mark. They had to have money, and so they started the presses to printing money. They are puzzled that the colored paper is not acceptable. If it were to be accepted in payment of reparations, now, the task of settling would be much simplified. The conclusion that Germany never intended to try to pay reparations hardly is to be avoided. The statesmen over there entertained the idea that England and the United States would intervene to hold France in check. Because this was not done they fancy themselves the victims of oppression. The intimation that they in any manner caused their own troubles, that their course has not at all times been just and honorable, fills them with amazement. In other words, they have lost the ability to reason from the simplest premise. All this makes the future of Germany uncertain. It even raises a doubt that Germany, as at present constituted, is to have a future.

LA FOLLETTE TO TOUR

Senator La Follette is said to plan the movement ordinarily termed "swinging round the circle." So far as learned, there has been no pressing invitation for him to do so; but still the undertaking would be within his rights. If he desires to put himself on exhibition, and there is a public with a curiosity to hear him, it is possible that he will draw crowds. It is not to be assumed that the journey, with its pauses for oratory, could have an appreciable effect on the minds of the people hearing him. The coterie already pledged to ultra radicalism, would see in him their prophet. The more thoughtful contingent, greater numerically, would be likely to turn away with the impression of the man's unfitness accentuated. The country never has forgiven La Follette for his outspoken disloyalty during the war. There were among patriotic citizens, differences of opinion touching certain phases of the conduct of the war, but casting politics aside, the vast majority devoted themselves to promoting the chances of winning against the onslaught of Germany on the whole structure of civilization. Not so La Follette. He made in the senate such speeches as well might have been written by members of the German high command, and stamped with the approval of the kaiser. American sentiment was startled, thinking that La Follette had become mentally incompetent; later disgusted because knowing he understood what he was saying, Germany and the United States were at war. He, a senator, espoused the cause of Germany. For a long time thereafter, La Follette, apparently shamed into silence, slunk in the shadows. Then he emerged. At first tentatively, and next into the full light. The people saw that he had not changed. Neither has his opinion of him changed. Were he, at this late day, to repent in dust and ashes, the outcome must be the same. True, he has a following in Wisconsin, but Victor Berger has a following there. The condition thus indicated is peculiar, but it is local.

SUPPRESSING THE IDLER

The police of Chicago have been raiding gambling resorts, making hundreds of arrests. Such a move is directly in suppression of crime, for it is penalizing the members of a large class of idlers. The rule that if men will not work they shall not eat, seems to stand the test of justice. Where there is gambling on a big scale, it means that professional gamblers are making their livings without toil. They are preying upon the public. They add nothing to production. They are not in any manner useful to society. Perhaps there are honest gamblers. Bret Harte named one or two in his western stories, and in the pages of fiction the type is acceptable. In real life it is difficult or impossible to find. Men who undertake to beat the games of the professionals are not impelled by high motive. Nevertheless, they are entitled to protection against the allurements tempting them. They play in the belief that they are to get something for nothing, an experience notably rare among human events. The urge to win becomes so great that often it leads to dishonesty. The player procures the stake wherever it is to be had. He may borrow it, or steal it, or simply rob his creditors by wasting the money due them. He neglects his family and his business. Often he becomes a wreck, losing every claim to respectability. It is natural for him to gravitate to the level of habitual criminality. It is to be observed that when a gambling den is raided, proprietors and attaches have money to furnish bail. Often the players have not, having handed it over the greenscloth to the owner of the den. In such places also, loiter the brand of loafers who usually are under police surveillance, skirting precariously the gates of the penitentiary. Every such brood is a sinister and threatening presence in the community it infests. The police do well in interfering.

Los Angeles is contemplating the construction of several viaducts across the river. Many thousands of automobilists use the present inadequate bridges every day, running all the risks involved by grade crossings. A large proportion of these automobilists live outside the city. However the residents may feel about it, the viaducts would be welcomed by the community generally.

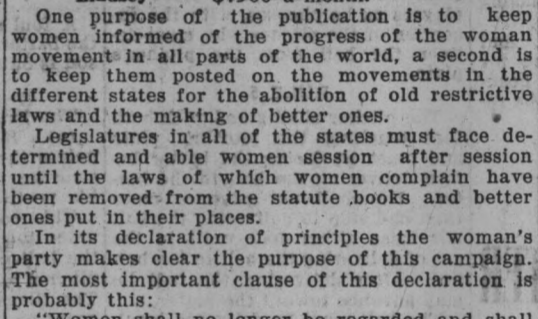

Revelations of gigantic frauds in the Texas oil fields do not come as a surprise. The peddlers of oil stock had been making promises, that anybody, considering in the light of common sense, must have known were impossible of fulfillment.

The attorney general threatens to put some of the sugar speculators in jail. Such drastic treatment doubtless would be both reformatory and deterrent.

The Equal Rights Campaign

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The national woman's party has begun a campaign which will cause a furor compared to which the suffrage campaign will appear a mere trifle on the surface of national life. Suffrage was but the weapon which women sought wherewith to abolish all those ancient restrictions and prejudices that have unjustly, and which still unjustly, handicap the sex. "Equal Rights" is the slogan of the fight and "Equal Rights" is the name of the national woman's party, Capitol Hill, Washington, D. C. During the period from December 7, 1912, to March 24, 1923, the receipts at the headquarters totaled $1,093,751.33 and contributions are coming in at the rate of about $1500 a month. One purpose of the publication is to keep women informed of the progress of the woman movement in all parts of the world, a second is to keep them posted on the movements in the different states for the abolition of old restrictive laws and the making of better ones. Legislatures in all of the states must face determined and able women session after session until the laws of which women complain have been removed from the statute books and better ones put in their places. In its declaration of principles the woman's party makes clear the purpose of this campaign. The most important clause of this declaration is probably this: "Women shall no longer be regarded and shall no longer regard themselves as inferior to men, but the equality of the sexes shall be recognized." It is the opinion of the spokesmen of the woman's party that the greatest handicap under which women struggle is the fixed idea existing in the minds of too many men that not a few women, alas—that the feminine sex is inferior. This opinion Zona Gale has termed the Freudian "inferiority complex." With many people it is an actual obsession which so controls the mind that its victims are unable to conceive of women being the equals of men and still remaining womanly, "womanly" to them meaning inferior. Remove this idea of the inferiority of women and everything else will follow as a matter of course, say the women. And they have money, brains and determination to apply to the task. "Equal Rights" costs a trifle and it is certainly a searchlight on the road to progress. If anybody still labors under the delusion that women are now free and unrestricted to pursue life, liberty and happiness let such a one glance through its pages. The last number lies before me as I write and from it I copy the item that in Ohio the house judiciary recently killed three equal guardianship bills. Representative Griswold told the women he did not consider the measures of enough importance to put on the calendar. However, among the "important" bills that were put on it was one providing for the protection of quail and another providing for the state inspection of bees. Evidently the "inferiority complex" can not coexist in the masculine legislative mind with a sense of humor.

THE annual report of Dr. Henry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life league, is both interesting and gruesome. The report says, for instance, that during 1922 in New York City an average of two people daily and four on Sundays took their own lives. Some of the horrible aftermath of the world war is disclosed by the item that more than one thousand shell-shocked and disabled veterans have committed suicide. Suicide is the logical end of the worst form of infidelity. For by far the most important belief for any human being is the belief in life. And the most destructive infidelity is the belief that life is bad. Youth is the period when normal life is abundant, and we cannot therefore but be astounded when we read of the number of young people who are guilty of self-destruction. Girls who died by their own hand averaged fifteen years of age, while boys averaged

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON THE DIFFICULT WORD (Find the error in this article.) Do you find learning to spell a dead slow process? An interested reader has contributed a list of ten difficult words, that all who read this article may profit thereby. It was a woman who brought the list in. As she handed it to the writer, she made the remark that the words had been tried on many business men, but that few of those put to the test had been able to spell every word correctly. The first word is villify. It means to defame; slander; traduce. The second is rarely. This word means to render less dense; as, a gas; to cause a mass to be of greater volume. The next word is accommodation. Not long ago the writer was passing a store, in the window of which was a card containing the word accommodation spelled with one m. Auxiliary is the fourth word. The next three words are as follows: panicky, dilemma, collectible. Then came the last three: acknowledgement, judgement, and salable. (Note: Collectible may be spelled also as collectable.) Yesterday's Error Wrong: Readers seem to have heaps of trouble with this little problem. Right: Readers seem to have considerable trouble with this. Vocabulary "You told me that he consigned his business to a friend. What did you mean?" "I meant that he put his business in the care of his friend; entrusted it to him."

Queries E. K. L., New York: "Will you kindly tell me whether the word quass must be in italics or underlined? Is this not an English word?" Answer: "It is not necessary to italicize the word. It is English and is pronounced kwé 'sai (e as in prey) ai as in aisle)."

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

One of these days Old Dobbin will disappear from the streets. Legislation will drive him off, if gasoline does not. Gasoline has nearly driven him off now. And legislation will finish him. Dobbin has long been a good friend of man. He has plowed for him, hauled for him, served for him in war and peace. For there was no power to take his place. Gasoline was not invented. Nor was the gasoline engine. And so Dobbin did the heavy work of the world. Men made a leather collar into which his shoulders fitted. And they made a saddle to rest on his back. And so he drew the plow. He carried the courier. And it was a romantic kind of carriage. In these latter days Paul Revere might have made his famous ride in a Ford. But times have changed. And when times change we have to change with them. To abolish all those ancient restrictions and prejudices that have unjustly, and which still unjustly, handicap the sex. "Equal Rights" is the slogan of the fight and "Equal Rights" is the name of the national woman's party, Capitol Hill, Washington, D. C. During the period from December 7, 1912, to March 24, 1923, the receipts at the headquarters totaled $1,093,751.33 and contributions are coming in at the rate of about $1500 a month. One purpose of the publication is to keep women informed of the progress of the woman movement in all parts of the world, a second is to keep them posted on the movements in the different states for the abolition of old restrictive laws and the making of better ones. Legislatures in all of the states must face determined and able women session after session until the laws of which women complain have been removed from the statute books and better ones put in their places. In its declaration of principles the woman's party makes clear the purpose of this campaign. The most important clause of this declaration is probably this: "Women shall no longer be regarded and shall no longer regard themselves as inferior to men, but the equality of the sexes shall be recognized." It is the opinion of the spokesmen of the woman's party that the greatest handicap under which women struggle is the fixed idea existing in the minds of too many men that not a few women, alas—that the feminine sex is inferior. This opinion Zona Gale has termed the Freudian "inferiority complex." With many people it is an actual obsession which so controls the mind that its victims are unable to conceive of women being the equals of men and still remaining womanly, "womanly" to them meaning inferior. Remove this idea of the inferiority of women and everything else will follow as a matter of course, say the women. And they have money, brains and determination to apply to the task. "Equal Rights" costs a trifle and it is certainly a searchlight on the road to progress. If anybody still labors under the delusion that women are now free and unrestricted to pursue life, liberty and happiness let such a one glance through its pages. The last number lies before me as I write and from it I copy the item that in Ohio the house judiciary recently killed three equal guardianship bills. Representative Griswold told the women he did not consider the measures of enough importance to put on the calendar. However, among the "important" bills that were put on it was one providing for the protection of quail and another providing for the state inspection of bees. Evidently the "inferiority complex" can not coexist in the masculine legislative mind with a sense of humor.

And the time is coming when Dobbin will have to leave the streets. When he will be unharnessed from the truck and the delivery wagon. When the streets will be given over to the mechanical locomotor. And when Dobbin will finally go free. Back to the country where he belongs. He may not want to go. We do not know whether he has any will in the matter. His owner may not want him to go. For he may lose profit. But the horse in the city is behind the times. He has no place in the streets competing with the motor truck. And legislation to take him off the street would be good for him. Good for locomotion and transportation. In olden days it meant two or three hours. So muley travels more swiftly on her excursions. And there is no need to brush Dobbin off and feed him oats and let him rest. That is one advantage of mechanical locomotion. We do not have to waste sympathy on a machine. For a machine needs only oil and gas. It has no need of sympathy. So Dobbin is spared a lot of hard work. He has been taken to a great extent off the hard pavements. The risks of his life have decreased. For he is no longer harnessed to a fire engine and driven at furious speed through the streets. The gasoline engine does the work he used to do. And the time is coming when Dobbin will have to leave the streets. When he will be unharnessed from the truck and the delivery wagon. When the streets will be given over to the mechanical locomotor. And when Dobbin will finally go free. Back to the country where he belongs. He may not want to go. We do not know whether he has any will in the matter. His owner may not want him to go. For he may lose profit. But the horse in the city is behind the times. He has no place in the streets competing with the motor truck. And legislation to take him off the street would be good for him. Good for locomotion and transportation.

Songs of the Poets

To A Cricket—By William Cox Bennett Firelight echo of that noon Heard in fields when all is stilled In the golden light of May, Bringing sense of new-mown hay, Bees, and birds, and flowers away, Prithee, haunt my fireside still, Voice of summer, keen and shrill. Chirping round my winter fire, Of thy song I never tire, Weary others as they will, For thy song with summer's filled— Filled with sunshine, filled with June;

REPORT ON SUICIDES

By DR. FRANK CRANE The causes given were intolerable domestic conditions in their homes, faulty school systems, temperamental disorders, and child marriages. There were listed some 477 suicides by children in 1919 and nearly double that number in 1922. Dr. Warren adds that there is strong probability that there was an unrecorded child suicide for every one listed. This does not argue terrible and unbearable conditions. It argues weakness, mental and a spiritual deficiency. It is not hard luck nor hard times that makes a suicide. It is a sloppy soul. Almost any excuse will do when courage has evaporated and life has slumped. One girl wrote that she was shuffling off this mortal coil "to get a new thrill." Another young miss took poison because she did not like the looks of her hair after it had been bobbed. A woman thought life was no longer worth living after she missed two trains. A man blew out his brains rather than face another cold winter, and a designer was driven to self-destruction while trying to guess the spring style for women. In the meanwhile brave spirits are living on and manfully playing their part in the face of all manner of discouragement and opposition. It is in the human spirit alone that the answer to all such problems is to be found. Where there are heroism and manhood there are cheer and brightness of life, even on the battlefield, in prison, and under the most discouraging surroundings. Where the soul is sick and there is no inward courage you may find world weariness, pessimism, cynicism and all the nasty seeds of suicide, even among the darlings of fortune, the endowed, the coddled and the petted. It is all a question of the life force. (Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PROBLEMS THAT WORRY (Milwaukee Sentinel) For one American who lies awake nights worrying about the League of Nations there are hundreds more directly concerned in the price of sugar. Our own farming problem has just been recognized by congress. Our coal problem has been shelved, but not solved, and if we should have another hard winter, this is a matter that will come home to millions of people with elemental force. Taxes have been forced on public attention as never before. In many places, there are local housing and high rent problems. Now some of these things may not get into politics, and others have no rightful place in politics. But they are likely to be reflected in elections, anyhow, since voters have gotten into the habit of "taking it out" on the government for their troubles. What the people will be thinking about when they go to the polls in 1924 is highly uncertain, but if there are problems that come home directly to their purses and peace of mind, they will be thinking of those, before they get "het up" over the peace of the world. Political parties will make no mistake by surveying America first. A STUNT FOR FORD [Capper's Weekly] While waiting for congress to let him do something for his country at Muscle Shoals, Henry Ford might pay the Germans' reparations bill, and so get the world out of its economic trenches by Christmas.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES Pasadenans may smoke on street cars. They have to do so at the risk of arrest. No good reason could be given for setting a pack of reporters on the trail of a bridal couple even if the girl happens to be rich. By carefully reading the output of financial writers, it is possible to reach any desired conclusion concerning the business outlook of Europe. If lobbying were stopped a lot of people would have to work for a living. Premier Poincare gives several reasons why the French are in the Ruhr. They seem to be good reasons. Baseball gamblers are believed to have tried to blow up a ball park. They had been suspected of being a tough lot before this. A Marathon dancer hasn't sense enough to know when he has danced so long that he ought to die of it. The burglars who entered six Pasadena homes and didn't take a thing must have wanted the exercise. Speculators put sugar up another notch, being bound to take one more fling before Daugherty gets them.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Chicago is much perturbed over the killing of people there by automobiles. April 22 the total for the year had reached 182. The present sacrifice of children to the speeder is twenty a month. "Many of these killings," says the dispatch, "are sheer murder." Of course they are sheer murder. There are, in proportion to population, more episodes of the sort out this way. Survivors are getting very tired of them, but nothing in particular seems to be done about it. Of course there are inequities and regrets. The painful subject naturally brings up the matter of the road hog. The title flatters the person to whom it is applied. He has the greed of swine, but for the most part, he is a more terrifying beast than the hog. Take any pleasant Sunday, on any of the roads hereabouts; highways to mountain or sea, or from city to city. All crowded. Plenty of room for everybody, nevertheless, save for the hog on wheels. He wants to get somewhere on the instant. He scoots and roots his way into the line ahead of him, to the endangering of the line coming from the other direction. He crowds machines into the ditch. When he can see no opening whatever, to be reached by going to the left, he makes a bold dash to the right, taking a desperate chance of breaking into the line at some point ahead. Every Sunday is marred by accidents, probably by fatalities. A large part of the total is due to the road hog. He should be forbidden the highway and placed in a pen with a ring in his nose. It is a pleasure to note that public opinion grows more and more favorable towards the proposed issue of county bonds. For so great and rich a county as Los Angeles to have no adequate hospital or jail is something for that county and its neighbors to be ashamed of. To think of prisoners crowded into insanitary quarters ample for about half the number forced to be in them, is bad enough, but the spectacle of poor patients being turned from the doors of the hospital in which they are entitled to treatment, is even worse. A girl with bobbed hair has been officiating as judge in a soviet tribunal. The ease and alacrity with which she sentences prisoners to death has excited the great admiration of the bolshevik. One batch brought before her had been charged with robbery. She sent all but one to the firing line. It appears that in Russia robbery is a crime except when committed officially and for the benefit of the ruling regime. This regime, being systematized robbery, does not propose to permit competition. It seems that there is a French law that declares children born in France to be citizens of that country. Under this law the demand is made that two children of a divorced couple, the divorce obtained by the wife in Los Angeles, be sent back to France. Despite any French law, compliance with this demand would be an outrage. Four men in Montana were found guilty of murder recently. Two were sent to prison for life, and the others hanged. It is interesting to note that at the time of the murder the entire quartet were out of the Montana penitentiary on parole. As this is written, news columns are filled with accounts of the prospective return to this country of Clara Phillips, the murderer, who not only escaped hanging, but escaped jail. Between the time of writing and printing, something may happen to change the aspect of things. Nevertheless, and at the risk of being utterly wrong, the guess is ventured that the woman has not been captured, that no trace of her has been found, and that the present set of rumors have exactly the substance of those preceding, which to be precise, was nothing. A French painter is quoted as saying that he never saw a really pretty woman. He is an old grouch and fraud. Perhaps, he suffers from painter's colic. Any man, artist or otherwise, who says he never saw a pretty woman is merely confessing his own shortcomings. He is incapable of seeing beauty. To set up a standard of perfection arbitrarily, and then measure by it, is a foolish piece of business. "Wife Defends Triangle Love." All right. She is at one point of the triangle, and if the situation pleases her, occasion for worry seems to be absent. But these triangular lovers get too much publicity. That is one thing that makes them objectionable. If a woman elects to be indecent, her tendency to put belts on her toes and dance in the limelight is annoying. Florida seems to be worse than at first reported. The prisoner whipped to death recently had been guilty of stealing a ride. A brakebeam tourist is not of necessity vicious at all. But the sheriff got a fat fee for capturing him, and the leasing concern sought to pr fit from enslaving him, and not getting it in the desired measure, beat him to death and buried him in a swamp. There should be a lot more light turned on this matter, and were it to cast its beam on the guilty engaged in being hanged, it would be welcomed. The third party, which is to be for the purpose of nominating Ford, is seeking to struggle into existence at Omaha. Nothing farther is said of the intent of the organization. Ford, with some representative Jewish banker of Wall street for vice-president, would make a ticket sure to attract notice. A warrant is in the hands of officers for the arrest of a former doctor who is charged with having obtained narcotics through the use of forged prescriptions. The man once had a lucrative practice, but dope got him. When a doctor becomes a drug addict he falls to the lowest level at the highest rate of speed.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN DILGRIM My grand-dad brought me up to apologize to people. Sometimes it seems to me that either he or I went too far. He taught me too well or I'm too good a pupil. It's one thing to be polite and another thing—oh, quite another thing—to be deferential to a roughneck; I've had to unlearn a good deal the old gentleman taught me. Which recalls a story. Never mind who the hero of it is. He is one of the big men in the government service who has had to do with the big men in the service of the railroads of the country. "They all wanted to be fair, I think," said he. "But they were possessed by their own point of view." One large, heavy-shouldered, gruff-voiced, tangle-eyebrowed railroad man came before him for a settlement. He said that when he was a young man in the railroad business a lady entered his office one day, wearing a fine silk dress. "Look here," she said. "As I entered your station just now two loafers spat tobacco on me. You must pay." He paid, he said. Now he felt that the government had treated him as the loafers did the lady. He felt toward the government precisely as she did. He gave a thirty-minute talk on his wrongs. Then the other man took up the thread. He didn't say: "I'm sorry you feel that way." He said: "You came down here to help me make a settlement with your road and you haven't uttered a helpful word. I'll write you later." The letter was a model of courtesy. In three days the railroad man had accepted the government's offer and thanked the official for his helpfulness. The moral seems to be double-barreled. Most people want to be fair. Likewise it doesn't pay to be too humble. The meek may inherit the earth—but they do not always enter into their inheritance.

EAGLE ROCK NEWS

'EAGLE ROCK IS SIXTY-FIVE SIGN

HOMELAND' IS PLATFORM

UP FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

EAGLE ROCK, April 26.—While the smoke curled thickly, over 100 Eagle Rock residents united in a meeting of co-operative good fellowship for civic enterprise in the Women's club house Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce "smoker."

Before the opening of the meeting each person present was supplied with an identification tag and a song book containing the old and new favorites, and as a fitting opening, the entire group of men, led by Mr. J. A. Lewis, Highland Park community sing leader, sang "America" with vigor and harmony. After this song had been followed by "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Old Black Joe," "Long Long Trail," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Our Boys Will Shine Tonight," and a number of other old favorites, Mr. Lewis led the men in the intricacies of "stunt" singing, and more than one of the men present had a noticeably good time with "Smiles" and "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree." Mr. Lewis then commended the harmony and spirit of the impromptu chorus.

Mr. Root made a short talk before introducing the speakers, presenting the plans of the chamber of commerce to choose a man for secretary of the new organization who will be able to serve capably as the "watchdog" for Eagle Rock, in Los Angeles, one who will be familiar with the local problems and always ready to act on any matter that arises. Mr. Root further explained the work of the team of Stevenson and Schouboe in guiding the affairs of the chamber during the coming year. He stated that although the organization is striving for a total fund of $75,000, a minimum of $50,000 must be secured anyway to keep up the expenses of a paid secretary. He explained why a decision was reached to try for a nominal membership rather than a larger membership at a small fee.

Mr. Root then introduced H. B. Pier, secretary of the Venice Chamber of Commerce, and one of the workers there who has had as diversified activities as any secretary in Southern California. He presented the necessity for a good chamber of commerce, and cited the great benefits which such a body can bring to a community, giving as a definite example the unbelievable big improvements brought to Redondo, California, through such a civic body. He defined a chamber of commerce as a group of business men, working together primarily to serve the community, and to teach the people through unified effort to "live well together." "All other problems fall easily in line when people live well together," he said.

Mr. Root called on Mr. Stevenson for a few remarks relative to the campaign here. He explained also the advantage of the large fee, over the "dollar a year" plan of organization.

Mr. George Taubman, who maintains one of the largest Bible classes in California known as "George's class" at the First Christian church in Long Beach, then presented his observations and ideals on the subject of an organization which is composed of men who believe in their town and their town's achievements. He left no doubt in anyone's mind why he is one of the most popular speakers in the district. He referred to Long Beach, telling about the chamber there, with a membership of two thousand at $5 a year, and "doing a man-sized work in a man-sized way." He is familiar with the Eagle Rock situation and based his talk upon the slogan of the evening—"Eagle Rock is Homeland."

He said: "You want to keep away manufacturing enterprises, keep this a home community, build on the hill and in valleys solely for homes. Fight out the industries. It will be a mistake if no provision is made to bar them, because they will steal in and take the finest sites." He criticized the local residents in a definite but friendly spirit, saying "You men should have organized this way three years ago. But here you have been—bums on a sand hill, asleep. This is your home, and you must keep it; you keep the children's laughter, and keep them safe here in Eagle Rock. Keep your women happy. Keep the moral atmosphere what it is today. There are fine ideals impregnated here. There is no need to worry about people coming to worry that they are coming too fast and get the housing conditions arranged so that they will find here what they seek—a new home. You must see into the future and provide for your growth." Mr. Taubman gave credit to the importance of Occidental college here, but criticized the erection of the "two by four shack" being erected near the school. "The dome must be put into the hearts of the property owners to put up worth-while and sightly buildings that will give you a union to invite people here, for the advantages of the college, or to make Eagle Rock their home," Mr. Taubman said.

C. W. Young made a report of the chamber of commerce meeting in Pasadena last week.

An elaborate and plentiful buffet lunch was served after the speaking.

MURDERS WHOLE FAMILY
POSEN, Poland (By mail to United Press).—Robbers, believed to be relatives, went into the home of Farmer Kostera here, murdered Kostera, his wife, his three children, two servants and even the family dog, in order to cover up any possible clues. Kostera formerly lived in the United States and had returned to his native Poland only two years ago.

Large Number of Charter Members Are Already Enrolled

About sixty-five business men have already seen "the handwriting on the wall" and signed the chamber of commerce membership roll. Nearly a hundred have signed pledge cards setting forth their belief in the home city, and offering assistance in securing new members for the large body being organized here. These were all definitely "sold" on the plan at the smoker Tuesday, and immediately offered their moral and financial support, stating through a spokesman that all of the community spirit is not limited to Venice, or Long Beach, or San Joaquin valley.

Many more are signing up every day so that all indications are to the effect that the plans of those promoting the work here will be realized.

FIVE LEADERS ARE APPOINTED FOR DRIVE

Real Work of Chamber of Commerce for Members Begins

Five precincts leaders have been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to organize teams to gather in new members to the local enlarged chamber of commerce. These leaders are B. B. Martzoff, C. W. Young, C. I. Suits, John T. Bailey and H. H. Maxson. These men will each appoint a captain, who in turn will appoint four workers. These men will all be present at a dinner to be held in the Woman's club house next Tuesday night.

The five leaders will meet at the city hall Friday evening at 7:30 for further discussion of plans for rounding up the prospective members who have not as yet come forward to sign the roll.

DEBATERS RETURN WITH THREE SCALPS

Having covered over 10,000 miles in less than four weeks, the veteran debaters who have represented Occidental college on the most extensive debating tour of the east ever undertaken by a similar institution, White McGee of Eagle Rock and Herbert Sutton of Los Angeles, returned Tuesday evening of last week, having won three of the four contests scheduled. Gonzago University, a Catholic school at Spokane, was the only school which was able to put more verbal explosives in the battle than the local men.

Mr. and Mrs. White McGee, Sr., 241 Grand View, entertained the members of "this year's debating squad" with a wonderful dinner Friday evening. The dinner was arranged as a "welcome home" to the two debaters who have so ably worked for Occidental on the eastern trip.

SUBURBAN SITES ARE GOING WELL UNDER TERMS

Unit No. 2 Sold Saturday and Sunday Leads to Another Sale

Fifty percent of the total number of homesites in Suburban Heights unit No. 2 offered to the public at special profit-making terms, were sold during Saturday and Sunday last, the two big opening days.

"Our big lot sale last week was the success of the season, both for buyer and seller," said Alfred R. Johnson, sales manager of the Suburban Realty company.

"Our opening announcement stated plainly that after the initial payment there would not be any further payments for two years. This financing method was arranged in order that everyone with a few spare dollars could secure a lot and at no additional expense, sit still and wait until the lot had been resold. That such favorable payments were appreciated was evidenced by the large crowds that attended our tract office at Tenth and Western avenue, last Saturday and Sunday."

"It is our intention to hold another rapid-fire sale at the end of this week in order to give everyone in Glendale an opportunity to secure one of these choice residential sites before we make our big public announcements in the Los Angeles papers. If buyers attend this week's sale in the same numbers as at last week's, we will, however, have trouble in finding anything worth while to offer our Los Angeles clients."

"Suburban Heights is fully improved, being sold at less than surrounding unimproved property prices, and is well supplied with transportation facilities."

ILLITERACY IN COUNTRY

CHICAGO (United Press).—Figures showing the comparative illiteracy between city and rural population emphasize the need for better school facilities in the country, according to J. N. Manley of Memphis, Tenn.

"A national survey," said Manley, speaking at a meeting of book publishers here, "shows that in 1920 the United States had a native-born population of about 69,000,000 in an estimated total population of 110,000,000. The urban native-born population numbered 32,750,000 and the rural 35,025,000. Of the urban population, 613,000 were illiterate, or 1.82 per cent and of the rural, 2,471,000 were illiterate, or 7.1 per cent."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

AFTERWARD

It's quiet about the house,
Parlor and hall and stair,
And never a song the whole day long.
And never a cry out there,
Where the flowers are and the apple trees,
And the birds and the droning honey-bees.

It's quiet about the house,
Not the slam of a closing door,
Nor the music sweet of patter feet,
As often we heard before.
Nor voices shouting in merry play
Through the afternoon of the sunny day.

It's quiet about the house,
Not a creak of the cellar stair,
And the toys are gone from the grassy lawn,
And it's all in such order there.
And through the yard no cry or noise,
Nor the shouting of half the world of boys.

It's quiet about the house,
And the dead dreams come and fill
The hall and stair, and it's lonesome there,
And Oh but the place is still.
And the hurt is deep and the stabbing pain,
And the dreams are dead and the hopes are vain.

FIND TREASURE SHIP OF ANCIENT ROME

TUNIS (United Press).—American scientists engaged in research work in Tunisia have located, off the coast, the wreck of the treasure ship of the Roman army which invaded the ancient Carthage in the second Punic war, two centuries before Christ. It is believed that the gold and silver which sank with the ship represent many millions of dollars. The expedition was financed primarily for exploration on the site of the primeval African city. A formal agreement between the United States government and the Tunisian authorities was drawn up and signed. The searchers have already unearthed two buried temples, one of which was undoubtedly Christian. The other was probably dedicated to Baal, one of the Carthaginian deities.

Men may be as deceitful as women in some things, but a man never pretends that he is having a good time when he is not.

WORLD CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TO CONVENE IN DES MOINES

DES MOINES, April 26.—Between 15,000 and 20,000 young people from all over the world will be in Des Moines July 4 to 9 to attend the twenty-ninth International Christian Endeavor convention. They will listen to speakers from all countries of the world, according to the announcement of plans by General Secretary E. P. Gates of Boston.

Among the speakers who have already been announced are: Dr. William Hiram Foukes, general secretary of the New Era Movement of the Presbyterian church; Dr. Lionel B. Fletcher of Australia and England; Hugh S. Magill, international Sunday School of Religious Education; John Kelley, general secretary of the Scottish Sunday School association, and president of the European Christian Endeavor Union.

Be sure your camp fire is dead—then bury it.

ONE-FOURTH OF CANDIDATE O. K.

BERKELEY, Calif., April 26.—One of the three candidates for mayor at the preferential election May 1 is Frank Stringham, whose home is at 21 Tanglewood road. According to the official books of City Assessor Harry J. Squires, one-fourth of the Stringham residence is in Berkeley and three-fourths is in the city limits of Oakland.

The political opponents of Stringham in the campaign declare that he sleeps in the Oakland portion of his dwelling and dines and entertains his friends in the portion of his home that lies in Berkeley. His opponents claim that a man votes where he sleeps, and question if Stringham can accept the office if he is elected.

"It's all nonsense," Stringham says. "Berkeley is my legal place of residence. When I was city attorney of Berkeley some years ago I looked up the law governing such difficulties and found that I could choose the place where I wanted to vote."
